Guideline on Transparency and Dissemination of Information

1 INTRODUCTION

Communication with stakeholders plays an important part of public health protection as the information conveyed can be related to product safety, quality, or its safe use. Maldives Food and Drug Authority (MFDA) strongly recognises the right of individuals and organisations to accurate information in respect to medications and therefore, takes a proactive, open, and transparent approach to communication.

Effective communication also helps to build public trust and transparency. Through effective communication, by communicating clear, concise and accurate and timely information with the stakeholders, MFDA aims to strengthen the credibility among stakeholders, and ensure the role of national pharmaceutical regulatory authority as the protector and regulator of pharmaceuticals is fulfilled.

2 PURPOSE

This guideline is aimed at informing the public and stakeholders of the established communication strategies for disseminating information to stakeholders.

3 SCOPE

The communication strategies outlined in this guideline is limited to information regarding medicines/pharmaceuticals which will be communicated by the Medicine and Therapeutic Goods (MTG) division of MFDA to the relevant stakeholders.

4 What information do we share?

4.1.1 The Medicine and Therapeutic Goods division of MFDA shares information on a number of issues related to pharmaceuticals. These topics include:

- Product safety and quality
- Product recalls and withdrawals
- Product information
- Changes to services, forms, etc.
- Rational use of medicines
